PARTNERSHIP AGREEMENT

between

the Romanian Reserve Officers Association (AORR)

and

the Estonian Reserve Officers Association (EROK)

As an extension of the economical and diplomatic relations between Romania and Estonia, and especially of the recent military cooperation observed notably within NATO and now in the enhanced Forward Presence measures established by the North Atlantic Council across the Eastern European Border, the respective national associations of reserve officers agree to sign an agreement to partnership.

Seeking to make the Romanian-Estonian friendship live by effective cooperation aimed at fostering military exchanges between the two countries; it is the common spirit in which the Romanian Reserve Officers Association of and the Estonian Reserve Officers Association enter into a partnership.

In order to realize this intention, we propose:

- focused on the meaning and importance of Armed Forces in general and reservists in particular,
- a development and a regularity of the reciprocal exchange of information notably including the interconnection of Internet sites;
- access to activities and seminars of their two organizations and affiliated organizations;

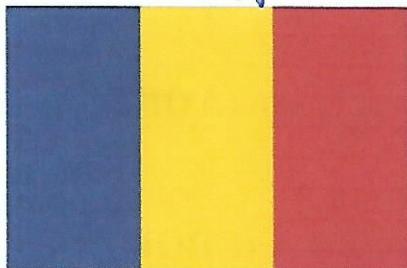

- mutual support in developing and training their respective Reserve Forces;
- mutual support during the participation at the CIOR events.
